I have known Danny for almost 50 years, Danny was an awesome man, friend, and like a big brother to me. In my younger days Danny & I would have long talks, he would be objective, sensitive, very opinionated, and "yes" sometimes scold me about my life choices. I could always count on Danny for an ear to listen, or even a shoulder to cry on, but most important when life was a huge challenge Danny was there to help pilot me through the difficult times, Danny never turned his back on me. Danny could make me laugh and forget about my troubles for the moment ...I went on many a wrecker call. Several years go Danny said, he was "proud of me & the person I had become" those words meant everything to me!!!

RIP in peace Danny you fought a long battle, and you'll always be remembered, respected, and loved by your little friend.
