“ Dot and her family,

Dot may you rest in peace since you have finally reach the end of the road that you have traveled. May you find the light to guide you on to your final place of rest.

As your family grieves for your loss may they find peace in knowing that you are no longer in pain, that everyone did what they could to see you thru your last years here on this earth and now you have moved on.

May God watch over your family and friends and keep them safe as they make their travels here on earth.

*Peace and love to you all,
Always, Mary Jane*
