“ I remember him coming to Florida for my graduation and surprising me. We went out to eat at Popeyes and he always loved to go out and smoke a cigarette afterwards and he went to light the cigarette and he said something about it tasting funny and I look at him and just busted out laughing told him he let it the wrong way and every time I would talk to him that is one thing he would remind me that he did knowing I would never forget it. I'm going to miss him.
