After graduating from Minor Hill High School, she decided to attend college and become a teacher. After earning a Teaching Degree from Middle Tennessee State University. She was an active member and Sunday School teacher at Elkton Baptist Church. She also graced the choir at church with her beautiful Alto voice. She and her husband, Joe were members of the Gideon's International. Serving in the distribution of Bibles. She always had a Servant's heart. Summers were spent raising a big garden to share with others in the community. Working in her flowerbeds and helping Joe mend fences, picking blackberries and keeping excellent cattle records for their family farm in Bunker Hill, TN.

After her retirement from the Giles County School System, she worked the local elections and worked Meals on Wheels and continued to be busy in the community.
