Lorie and family, I am so sorry for the loss of Jeff. I know this is so hard for you and your family. He was such a great friend to our Eric and I know Eric was there to welcome him and I know they are sharing great stories. God will be with you all and see you through this and provide for you and the children. Lean heavily on God and give all your cares to Him and He will give you the strength, comfort and peace to make it through this devastating time and all the difficult days ahead. God bless you all.

Thank you but he really doesn't need you to light any candles for him . The people that matter shine plenty of sunshine for him. He is my husband and he wouldn't want you doing this.

“ I can remember way back when they lived in the red house behind skyline restaurant. Me Richard and Sarah playing basketball and jeff would be hooking up systems. You always knew when jeff was coming down the street because you could here him long before you saw him. Watching him and Richard ride wheelies on 3 wheelers and CBR 900. I HAVE A LOT MORE MEMORIES OF JEFF THAT'LL ALWAYS HELP REMEMBERING HIM. LOVE YOU BROTHER REST IN PARADISE. From here on out i'll just assume when I hear thunder it's just you up there with the baddest of systems
