“ My favorite memory of Uncle John was when he drove me and my Dad from his home in Winfield down the Natchez Trace to Jackson Mississippi to see Alabama play Mississippi State in the mid to late 1970's. This was a game which was the nightcap of a two game doubleheader in Memorial Stadium(first game was LSU-Ole Miss). Of course, the Tide won. These double games were held quite often then, unheard of now. As Uncle John was a huge Bama fan, and this was during a golden age of Alabama football, this was a memorable trip during a very memorable time. My cousin (John Jr) and I hung out a lot during this time, and there were so many great memories of spending time with him as well - such as the week long visit in Uncle John and Aunt Luverne's very large mobile home (while he was waiting for his new home in Winfield to be built). And hornets nests at the place on the Lake in Fayette. And sleeping in the downstairs of his new home in Winfield(which I always thought was a cool place). And who could forget the all night poker games in Granny and Pappys basement( including the one with Vodka and slightly old grapefruit juice). Gonna miss you, Uncle, but the memories will always remain.
