“ Mr. Young was my English and Literature teacher at Prospect HS. He was an exceptional teacher and one of the nicest people I've ever met. He always had time to answer any questions we had about any subject at school. I was truly blessed to have Mr. Young as one of my teachers for four years in a row. Prayers for all of his family and friends. Rest in peace Mr. Young. You will be missed very much by so many people.

“ I am so thankful for all the Latin he taught me in high school arc prospect in 1978. I thought of him often as I had a distinct over many of my peers in college when taking New Testament Greek. He was a blessing to me as a student And he cares deeply for those he taught. I know he will Beverly missed by many. Moments like these remind us to be thankful for the Gospel.

“ I owe alot to this man. He came into class several mornings when I was a Freshman and asked if anyone would like to join the Tennis Team. I gave in and I'm glad I did. Some of my best memories come from countless practices and trips with the team. When my inner John McEnroe shown, Larry was there to calm me down and bring me back to Earth. The world lost a great man when Mr. Young left us. My condolences to Mrs. Betty Young and family.

“ Mr. Young helped me take a vested interest in reading. Never forget reading Dracula in class as a Sophomore at GCHS. Then in 2004 I actually got to see the castle Bram Stoker wrote about in his novel. I reflected on the detail in which Mr. Young taught that class and his time and information he poured into me. I appreciate and value the time I had in his class. He was a blessing to all who were able to be taught or coached by him. ~Dr. James Angus, Jr. GCHS c/o 1996.

“ *Lawrence was just telling me about a car show he and Larry attended in Lawrenceburg, before tents were a big thing. They parked their corvettes next to one another putting chairs behind. They both had shorts on and both wound up with sunburned knees. Too many memories to share but lots of fun times together under the tent at Pulaski car shows where Larry was in charge of spinning the oldies and Lawrence ran the board. Love to Betty, Harold and all the family. Sure going to miss this great guy.
