“ Bob was a sweet and very dear friend who made me laugh and married my dear friend. We worked together for a while, and I will never forget his quiet laugh when I glued myself to a piece of equipment going out to market, or wired my coworkers chair to his desk. He was kind and gentile with the biggest heart, and I loved him for being the friend that he was, and for loving his family with such intensity and fullness of heart. Rest well my friend, love you always.
