“ Sybil knew my sister Faye very well in their youth and would always ask me about her when I would stop to get produce. Faye loved to stop and see her as well when she could .. Will never forget the day Faye passed in 2013 and when Sybil asked me about her the look of such concern that was on her face when I told her Faye was gone, I will never forget . I stopped at the stand to see her again just a few months ago and so glad I did .We never know when it will be our last time and I always try and keep that in the back of my mind ,life is so short .She was a very kind lady and I will sure miss seeing her .I know she fought cancer hard many years .God bless you all, In Christian Love, Marsha Wilson Miller
