“ Mr. and Mrs. Sims were both great friends to the ministry at New Canaan Ranch. She and her husband both shared so much love and wisdom with us and our men in the program. Mrs. Sims was a strong, hard working lady who practiced what she preached. She looked after the less fortunate and showed kindness to everyone. We truly loved her and I will miss my friend's sweet spirit ❤️

“ Mrs. Sims was truly a jewel. She was not only my neighbor growing up (and made the best candied apples),but she was my art teacher in elementary school, my former supervisor when I taught a summer reading and math program at Pulaski Elementary for students needing extra help with these subjects (over some 30 years ago.) She was kind and shared a wealth of knowledge of our community and its history. Mrs. Sims will truly be missed and her sweet spirit will be remembered by all that knew her. Thank you, Mrs. Sims for your love, support, leadership and tireless work in Giles County.

Mrs. Sims was an excellent role model for all in Giles County, who loved her home town. She was not born in Giles County/Pulaski but knew more of Giles County/Pulaski history than those who were born here. She had a excellent memory and I loved to hear her talk about her traveling days. She was a sweet person who always had a lovely smile and she will truly be missed by all. RIH Mrs. Sims!

“ Ms. Sims was a big part of my life in high school. There are certain teachers who leave a lifelong impression on you like she did. An unforgettable shining, beautiful soul with a huge heart. I will never forget how she was patient, attentive, and supportive during my high school years. Not only did she teach me the foundations of art but also never failed to drop advice that had more meaning beyond. I will always remember the positive advice she gave; to be true and authentically yourself in life and in art. She never lost her sense of humor and I don't think I ever saw her mad at anyone. It took me a while to really comprehend what she was often trying to teach and imbed in our spirits. She never had a bad negative thing to say about anyone and always found a way to give constructive criticism. I will always be thankful for the real lessons I learned from her that I still treasure. I finally was able to get to the Louvre and all I could think of was her and how she told us about her trips there; her enthusiasm for life and learning. She encouraged us to embrace the world of feeling and use it to infuse our art. This was why she always wanted people to travel and see the world, for enrichment of soul and mind. Without the bad experiences you can't really feel the most positive moments. Miss you and wish your family love, peace and blessings - Mary Lou Ward
